

SCANDALOUS INDEED.

Lewelling Condemned Out of the Mouth of Populists.

HOW THE LOTTERIES HAVE GROWN

Under the Fostering Care of the "Reform" Governor—Senator Taylor Exposes the Condition of Affairs at Kansas City, Kan.

Senator Taylor of Wyandotte, who is one of the best informed and most intelligent men in the Populist party and a man of good judgment, is a strong opponent of the Lewelling administration. In his speech before the Populist county convention at Kansas City, Kan., he said: "When I see the prohibitory law rent out by the mouth to be violated as it is in this city, all with the governor's connivance and apparent consent, then I am convinced that so valuable a concession was not handed down for charity or for love."

"During the campaign two years ago a prominent politician told me negotiations were on foot with the gamblers of this city which would elect the Populist ticket. I dismissed the story then as an idle tale, but recent events have caused me to reverse that conclusion. And if any of you are under the impression that there was no deal on then, I ask you to account for the phenomenal growth of the lottery business in this town since Lewelling became governor."

"Insignificant affair. It is now, in the extent of its business correspondence, the amount of money it handles, easily the foremost business in this town after the packing houses, smelter, railroads and stock yards are excepted."

"We have the biggest flouring mill in the state, with a capacity of 2,500 barrels of flour a day, but our mills handle less money than our lotteries. Add to this that those lotteries are fakes, that their prizes are a joke, and the whole thing a swindle, and then tell me how to characterize a reform governor who lives in apparent harmony with them. A straw which indicates the direction of the wind in Topeka was furnished when the governor, having a little deputy coal oil inspectorship in his gift, for this city, instead of looking around for a worthy Populist engaged in a legitimate calling he gave it to a man who, if common report is true, is himself a gambler. "There never was a time in the history of this town when gamblers, policy-shops, pool-sellers, lottery people, craps-shooters and jointers were in such force or in such clover as now."

"Under the metropolitan police law the keynote of local government is struck at Topeka. The governor has been imported for the sake of the party and for the sake of collusion. If he is not a higher note than he is sounding. I am reluctantly forced to the conclusion that he continues in the double bass because it pays him. On what other hypothesis can you account for his, or any other man's permitting such a damaging appearance of collusion if he is not enjoying the reality. The conditions here are such that nine-tenths of our people believe that the administration is in some way a beneficiary of the lawlessness of this town; and we owe it to ourselves from the standpoint both of patriots and partisans to turn down officials of whom such charges are true or whose conduct is such as to render them probable."

"The Peoples' party in Kansas must prepare for reform within itself or defeat. It can't be tided over by sharp practices or unworthy partnerships. The smart thing in politics is the right thing. The tie that binds a party which is to endure must be something more than an office-grabbing conspiracy. A party which does not commend itself to the public conscience by its official practices need not hope for length of days. But if the Peoples' party will once bring up its public performances to a level with the honest hearts of its rank and file, hearts quivering with sympathy for the unfortunate, and with loyalty to American institutions then, and then only, will its future be secure."

BURN RAILROAD PROPERTY

Unknown Persons Who Set Fire to Santa Fe Bridges.

The Santa Fe has been having a good deal of trouble of late with unknown persons who have been setting railroad property on fire. Less than two weeks ago two small bridges were set on fire and partially destroyed on the eastern division between Topeka and Kansas City, and Monday a tramp set fire to a pile of ties near Lansing.

The section men gave chase, and finally caught him, and he was turned over to the authorities at Leavenworth, and at his preliminary trial bound over to the district court in the sum of $1,000, which he was unable to furnish and now lies in jail.

The next meeting of the Santa Fe reorganization committee will be held June 5 in New York city. Capt. R. The Santa Fe shopmen are requested to remember the excursion meeting at Trades Assembly hall this evening. The final arrangements will be made for the big excursion on Saturday, June 9th. To that place then will be the excursion.

ALL ALONG THE LINES.
Railroad News Items Interesting to Railroaders and the Public.

Although there has been no written agreement covering this point, it is learned from various railroad officials that from now on all Coxeyites of engines and railroad property is to be put down. One local representative of a terminal line in Colorado even went so far as to say that his officials had sent out word to all agents and train crews that attempts to steal a train must be overdone at the point of attack or the nearest station where relief might be obtained.

The railroads have been doing a big stock business from the south this season.

The Santa Fe has hauled 300,000 cattle since the first of April, and has 30,000 more on the string to be transported this month. When the season is ended, and the figures are put together, the season's business will be found to vary little from the figures named. Southern Texas is about through shipping, but the San Angelo country and the line of the Texas Pacific have about 20,000 head yet to move out. Some places—small areas—in the dry regions are still dry, the rains being partial and light.

The Santa Fe firemen at Argentine are preparing for a big picnic in the near future.

ZERCHER RESENTS IT.

The Action of Noah Allen and Judge Rightmire Criticized.

Assistant Secretary of State Zercher was the first president of the State Citizens' Industrial Alliance of Kansas. He said in speaking of the circular issued by Noah Allen and W. F. Rightmire and published in the JOURNAL last night:

"I have been interested in the Citizens' Alliance ever since its organization. The day of its usefulness is considered past. It was succeeded in 1892 by Peoples' party clubs, and to my knowledge there is not a single Citizens' Alliance organization in the state."

"I do not think it was a proper thing for Mr. Allen and Mr. Rightmire to issue that circular letter as officers of that organization. As individuals they have a right to their own views and ideas about things. When they charge in their circular letter that the executive committee of the Peoples' party state central committee of which I am a member, has arranged for fusion or endeavored to do so they make a statement that is false."

"The matter of candidates is a question to settle, and has not even been discussed by our state committee. "It is not the purpose of our committee to prevent any person from voting the Peoples' party ticket who wishes to do so, but under no consideration will our committee enter into any agreement that would jeopardize the principles of our party."
